

What's Your Type?

An Introduction to Type at Work

Course Summary

Are you one of those organized workers who always gets your projects in before they're due? Or do you put off getting the job done until the very last possible moment? This seminar makes it easy to recognize your own type and those of your coworkers. You'll determine your personality type and how to be more effective on the job and in all aspects of daily life.

Learning Outcomes

- Understand your results on the MBTI® assessment and verify your best-fit type
- Understand yourself and others and the impact type has on your daily interactions
- Identify your natural strengths and potential weak spots
- Examine how MBTI® preferences relate to your likes and dislikes in work settings
- Understand how MBTI® type may be expressed in the organization

Who Will Benefit?

Employees at every level who want to learn about applications of type in daily life including relationships, communication, and problem solving.

Book It Today!

Call 1-877-400-8647 to open the exciting door to type and enhance the performance of individuals in your organization.